All Terrain Warriors, one of Australia's premier 4WD Motorhome manufacturers needs your help. They're about to launch a brand-new, never-before-seen model that's sure to be just as revolutionary as their current products, just like the Conqueror model shown above. Here's the deal: All Terrain Warriors needs your help coming up with a name for it. If you're the one who comes up with the winning name you'll win a brand-new Waeco CF50 fridge courtesy of All Terrain Warriors. Read more for the full details.

In the past all of their products have had a "warrior" or military theme, such as: Scout, Recon, Commando, Chieftain and Conqueror. They've noted that just because they've done this in the past, it doesn't mean that they need to continue it on into the future.

The unseen 4WD motor home is described as extremely tough looking and very capable thing off-road, suitable for global and remote area travel in a wide range of terrain and climate.
